Christian Licoppe

Historian and sociologist

Christian Licoppe is a professor of sociology of information and communication technology at Télécom ParisTech. For the past several years, he has been conducting research on the relationship between mobility, communication and sociability in urban areas. He has also developed an ethnographic, workplace studies-type approach, based in particular on the analysis of video data. It is in this framework that he is studying the development of forms of remote participation in the relationship between organizations and their various audiences.

Projects with the Forum

Covid-19, lockdown and mobility

Mobility and job hunting: a digital barrier?
Christian Licoppe, Hélène-Marie Juteau

Sex, Love and Geolocation: a sociological study of Tinder
Christian Licoppe, Laurent Camus, Clémence Rouballay, Anne-Laure Dalstein

Publications with the Forum

Video-communications, videoconferencing and the lockdown
Christian Licoppe

Other publications on Mobile Lives Forum

Mobility and job hunting: a digital barrier?
Christian Licoppe, Hélène-Marie Juteau