

1. Authors

Patrick Rérat

Géographe

Patrick Rérat teaches the geography of mobility at the University of Lausanne's Institute of Geography and Sustainability. His work looks at residential mobility (and gentrification/re-urbanization phenomena more specifically), as well as the transition toward sustainable mobility (most notably cycling).

Projects with the Forum

The analysis of cycling protest movements in North America: Mexico City, San Francisco and Vancouver

Matthieu Gillot, Patrick Rérat

Santiago's “Plurinational Cycling Revolution” - cycling as a tool for multiple demands

Matthieu Gillot, Patrick Rérat

Publications with the Forum

 project

Residential mobility

Defined by Patrick Rérat